

International workshop
Current trends in Central European research of modern history, politics and culture

29 – 31 May, 2019

Palacký University Olomouc, Czech Republic

Organized by the CEEPUS network CIII-CZ-0029 and the Department of History, Faculty of Arts in Olomouc

Preliminary program:

Arrival: 28th of May,

Workshop: 29-31 of May

Departure: 1st of June

Who can apply?

- EU nationals who are MA or PhD students
- an excellent command of English is a prerequisite
- working and interested in the topics:
 - 1) Memories and memory politics in contemporary Central Europe
 - 2) Memory and anthropological perspectives
 - 3) Cultural heritage and the memory of the everyday life in Central Europe
 - 4) The European Union and its future
 - 5) Central Europe and its modern history

How to apply?

Send a motivation letter detailing why you wish to participate in the CEEPUS workshop, the topic and abstract of your dissertation (about 200 words) and your CV including your academic career to two emails: 1) radmila.svarickova@upol.cz, 2) our institution's coordinator dr Natasza Styczyńska natasza.styczynska@uj.edu.pl

We only accept electronic applications sent via e-mail.

The deadline for applications is 10 November 2018.

Successful candidates will be notified by the end of November 2018.

The costs of the workshop are covered by the CEEPUS scholarship (students will receive a scholarship of about 3 000 CZK and will pay the cost of their accommodation and their meals out of it).

Refreshments during workshops and two receptions will be offered by Palacký University Olomouc.

Accommodation

All students will be accommodated at the student's dormitory „generála Svobody“ of Palacký University. Accommodation will be booked and students will pay it themselves from their scholarship (cost per one night in a room shared by two persons: 280 CZK, single room: 400 CZK).

Travel costs

Travel costs will be paid by your home institution.

