

Private view of Wyspiański Treasury

Personal walks of the Stanisław
Wyspiański exhibition in the National Museum
in Krakow

Wyspiański's Treasury is a unique space – a museum storage of Stanisław Wyspiański's collection, which you can enter. This is why only part of the works is exposed, it is dim and the lack of labels is compensated by a special booklet. A group of international students living in Krakow accepted the challenge of their own interpretation of the Treasury and Wyspiański's works. They invite you to discover the space together during three thematic walks.

Walk 1 Wyspiański's Kaleidoscope

17 January 2020 (Friday), 10:30–12:00

Walk 2 Portraits

18 January 2020 (Saturday), 10:30–12:00

Walk 3 Struggling with death

19 January 2020 (Sunday), 14:00–15:30

Meeting point: Main Building of the National Museum, Al. 3 Maja 1 – the Lobby

Each walk will be conducted by a different group of students. Language: English.

Entry: special ticket 1 PLN. No registration needed.

Walks accompany the exhibition "Wyspiański Treasury" presented in the National Museum in Krakow until 1 March 2020.

The walks take place as part of cooperation between the National Museum in Krakow and the Faculty of International and Political Studies of the Jagiellonian University. They are held by students of Dr. Katarzyna Jagodzińska's course "The Public Museum" run at the Institute of European Studies of the Jagiellonian University.
